

Future Planning

Have you thought about sharing your wishes for your future care?

If you have a chronic medical condition which may suddenly worsen and lead to an acute illness and the need for urgent support, then Future Planning allows you to record your care wishes and have them shared with key services. This ensures that the clinicians caring for you have all the information they need to make the best decisions, including what's important to you. Ask your GP for more information or visit the website.
